RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT (R&D)

(2019-20)

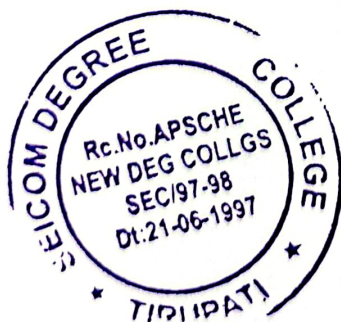

In 2019-20, SEICOM expanded its research activities by deepening collaborations and enhancing support systems. Additional MoUs were signed with industry and academic partners to broaden internship and project opportunities. Faculty continued to publish in peer-reviewed journals, and students presented their projects in regional science and commerce competitions. The R&D Cell organized workshops on advanced topics (such as artificial intelligence and financial technology) and invited experts for guest lectures. Institutional support grew with a new mentorship scheme, pairing senior students with juniors on research projects. The college also upgraded its digital library access and subscribed to online journals to provide better research resources.

- Initiatives: The research team introduced an annual faculty-student research meet and a newsletter showcasing project highlights.
- Projects & Achievements: Students and faculty collaborated on real-world problems – for example, student teams developed prototype apps under faculty guidance. Several papers and case studies were published by departments.
- Collaborations: New partnerships were established, including an industry tie-up for student internships and a knowledge-sharing MoU with a nearby university's research center.
- Events: SEICOM organized a national-level seminar on technology trends and hosted inter-collegiate quiz competitions related to innovation and entrepreneurship.
- Policies: A peer-review committee was formed to guide research proposals and streamline project approvals.
- Infrastructure: The College added smart classroom equipment and refreshed laboratory computers, ensuring students had modern tools for research and learning.
